

Teaching Latin Part 2: Upper-Level Latin with Karen Moore Webinar Show Notes

Agenda

- A. Synopsis: Tonight is the second half of a 2-part tour through teaching Latin at the lower & upper levels. Karen shared with us last time how the power of story acts as a gentle guide in understanding how words and grammar come together to engage student interest on a deeper level. We will consider the richness of the Latin text in upper-level Latin through a guided reading seminar on St. Patrick's Confession! Engage your students, plant the seed, and lead them to the wonder and beauty of Latin! Karen will also introduce you to a few Latin tools and teaching tips for you, your students, and for your classroom practices!
- B. Main Goals Tonight:
  - Latin tools and teaching tips
  - A guided Latin reading seminar
- C. Personal Announcements/Promotions:
  - Hancus ille Vaccanis the Latin interpretation of The Original Adventures of Hank the Cowdog
  - Institute for Classical Languages
  - CLT-Latin Proficiency Exam
- D. Q&A

TONIGHT'S OUTLINE

- I. Latin Alive series as an integrated component of classical studies
- II. Learning Latin through Original Texts
  - A. Approaching original texts
    1. The Context
    2. Grammar Preparation
    3. Reading Preparation/Process
  4. Reading the Story
  5. Reading Medieval Manuscripts
  6. Student Response to the Text & Extended Projects
- III. Method Applied to St. Patrick's Confession (Latin Alive Reader)

Q & A

Some questions that were answered in the webinar

- What is the idea behind Latin as a study in world knowledge or progression in thought?
- How can a teacher approach a librarian or institution in accessing Latin manuscripts for student study and appreciation?
- What is the difference between the Latin Alive reader Teacher Edition and the Student Edition?
- How can a teacher fuse a natural reading approach with a structured grammatical/mechanics approach to Latin?
- What are tips for guiding dyslexic students through their Latin studies?
- How often should students write out their translations?
- How can teachers of Latin strike a balance between the rigors of teaching the language and the beauty of communicating Story?

Related Resources

- A. You can find Karen Moore at:
  1. Grace Classical Academy of Georgetown, TX
- B. Tonight's Resources:
  1. St. Patrick's Confession
  2. Guttenberg Bible
  3. Paleography Project
  4. Manuscripts Collection
  5. Harry Ransom Center
- C. Classical Academic Press Publishing:
  1. Latin Alive! Series
  2. Libellus de Historia History Reader series
  3. Basic Latin Charts
  4. Interactive Latin Charts
  5. Declension & Conjugation Worksheets

6. Noun Parsing Worksheet
  7. Verb Parsing Worksheet
- D. ClassicalU:
1. Essential Latin course
  2. Latin Question & Answer Flow
- E. CAP Webinars:
1. Get to Know Lower School Latin \(with Dr. Christopher Perrin\)
  2. Get to Know Upper School Latin \(with Karen Moore\)
  3. Teacher Training Conference: Lower School Latin with Dr. Christopher Perrin
- F. Logos Press:
1. Hancus ille Vaccanis the Latin interpretation of The Original Adventures of Hank the Cowdog
- G. Institute for Classical Languages (in league with the ACCS)
1. Universal Latin Exam (an alternative to National Latin Exam)
- H. Karen Moore Archives on Society for Classical Learning
- I. Blog: Inside Classical Education:
1. Latin Teacher Karen Moore on the Great Benefits of Latin
- J. Legamus Transitional Reader Series:
1. Bolchazy-Parducci Publishers, Inc.
  2. Amazon Look Inside