

Mastery Teaching Workshop with John D. Mays

Lesson 17: Mastery and Our Future

Outline:

Mastery and Our Future

- We do not need a panacea. We need a few game changing ideas. Mastery learning is one of these game changing ideas.
- Our students need to retain learn.
- Our first goal of science instruction is learning science.
- As part of our vocation we feel compelled to keep on so that our efforts make a difference.
- One teacher at a time, one training seminar at a time we can see something different from the cram, pass, forget cycle.
- Mastery is not just for the students at the top.
- The widespread destruction of human beings is heartbreaking. Influence one student at a time.
- Every student has a mind that could be set free from exploitation.
- They need us to be wise enough and firm enough to lead them toward that transformation.